COLUMNWillard-Moran Bout Can't Be Held in Garden if Another
Postponement Is Necessary.

TEX RICKARD, the daredevil promoter of the Willard-Moran bout, who is paying nearly $100,000 to stage an indoor bout in this city, which is more than three times what it has cost to promote any similar contest, will undoubtedly be "on pins and needles" until the men enter the ring—if they ever do.

The latest thing to cause Tex's palpitation, or a thing that would cause the ordinary promoter palpitation of the heart, is a report from Chicago that Jess Willard has had a relapse and that he may have to ask for another postponement of the big battle. If another postponement is necessary it is a sure thing that the bout won't be held in Madison Square Garden—at least not this spring—as March 25 is the last open date in the big amphitheatre until well along toward summer. Of course, he might be able to secure some other club in Greater New York, but none that would serve the purpose as well as the Garden.

The advice from Chicago say that Willard suffered a relapse Saturday and was ordered back to bed by his physicians. They don't think his illness is serious, but they believe he should keep under the covers until he has entirely recovered.

According to this, I would be almost impossible for him to be able to start training so as to be in perfect condition by March 25—and it is a clinch that he wants to be in absolutely perfect condition when he faces Moran—or any other heavyweight.

Jack Curley, associated with Tom Jones in the management of Willard, declares that he has a "no work" ring Willard's illness. The way he put it was this:

"There will probably be a dozen reports and denials to the effect that the big match is off. Let me take place. Dame Rumor is a very busy lady when a big boxing match is scheduled, especially one involving the fortune that this one does. My last word from Jones Saturday was that he would bring Willard here in three or four days, and I have no reason to believe otherwise."

THE wondering what will happen when big Jess Willard meets comparatively little Frank Moran brings all sorts of stories to the fore. Mike Donovan, for example, remembers the giant lumberman who tried to stay four rounds on his palmy days and thereby earn $1,000.

"He was so big and active," says Mike, "that I was frightened. I had to cut the gloves open to get them on his hands. I left him in my dressing room and ran to tell John. I warned him that this was the biggest man I ever saw that was any good—4 feet 6, 235 pounds, hard as nails, quick as a cat, and, above all, a Scotchman after $1,000. I begged John to be careful. All he said was: 'Bring him on. The bigger they are the harder they fall.'"

"What happened?" I asked.

"Oh," said Mike, "as the giant stepped in John's right clipped him on the jaw. He fell into the wings and held on to a piece of scenery to keep from dropping to the floor. John peeled him off, led him to the center of the stage and let him stand. Then he gave him a tap with the right and outed him. It took John and two more of us to carry the giant to his chair."

Which proves nothing as to Willard vs. Moran, does any one ask? No, not exactly—except that it is not necessary to be as big as a man to knock him out. In other words, the coming match is not necessarily so one-sided as it looks to some folks.

Home-Run Baker Ambitious
To Lead His League at Bat
And Aid Yanks Win Flag

Famous Third Baseman Declares That He'll Hit Better for New York Than He Did for Athletics; That There's No Truth in Report That He Has a Weak Leg, and That the Year's Layoff Won't Affect His Work.

By Bozeman Bulger.

ACCORDING to Home Run Baker the only thing that can keep him from hitting over 300 for the Yanks is luck. He thinks he will hit better for New York than he did for Philadelphia, because he has a new ambition—wants to lead the league and help win another pennant.

"To begin with, I want to tell you that this talk about my leg being weak is all tommyrot," he said. "I was never in better physical shape, and the fact that I went through a pretty busy season with a club in a small independent league last year, hitting close to .400, proves it."

"I always wanted to play in New York," the famous home run hitter continued, "and for that reason I think I will take on new life in a new uniform. This is a chance for me to get on another club that is building, and it is quite a satisfaction to start with one and go right through to a championship. I don't say that the Yanks will win a pennant this year, but with the material they have on hand they ought to come pretty close. There are mighty few better ball players than Lee Magee and Fritz Mausel, and you fellows mustn't overlook that fellow Pipp. I think he will make one of the best first basemen in the country."

"There was never any question about agreeing to terms with the New York Club. As soon as I had talked with Capt. Huston at Wilmington that part of it was easy. This was in getting the Athletics to dispose of me. Connie Mack fixed up our disagreement, and it was at his suggestion that I signed for three years. Everything is fine and dandy now, and I am going to Macon next week to get ready for what I think will be my best season."

Frank Baker has an idea all his own about hitting. He says there is no reason why a batter should not hit one curve as well as another, or whether the ball is low or high. "You know," he said with a laugh, "I have never been able to figure it out why I don't get a hit every time I swing hard at one. Not that I am any better hitter than anybody else, but I can't understand why they don't go like a bullet. You know, at that, I think there is a good deal of luck to hitting. I've seen fellows go a week without getting a hit, and all the time they were hitting every ball on a line and with the force of a shot. That luck was against them, because they were hitting the ball straight at the fielders instead of between them."

YANKS START SOUTH.

Headed by Capt. Huston, half owner of team, and Manager Bill Donovan, the first flock of Yankees started South for the training camp at Macon, Ga., yesterday. The list of players that went: Ray Keating, Ray Caldwell, Leslie Nunamaker, Pius Schwert, George Mogridge, Cy Pieh, Jimmy McGovern, Gilman Gay, George Ruppert, owner of Col. Ruppert, owner of the team. At Washington the party will pick up Ford Meadows and Cliff Markle, and at Baltimore Joe Kelly and Allen Russell.

Other battery men will join them at Macon the latter part of the week, and by March 1 the entire string of forty-six players will have reported.

I guess it about breaks even, though. We got a lot of hits that are flukes—too short for the fielders and high enough to miss the infield.

"In my opinion, Bill Donovan is a mighty good baseball man," says Baker. "In fact, I think it will do good, because I am eager to get in big league games again. The work might be that I didn't lay off. Another thing is that Delaware County League I did in that Delaware County League was just enough to keep me on edge. As I said before, I don't know whether we are going to win a pennant or not, but the players are enthusiastic, and that is half the fight. You can bet that we'll be giving all the clubs a battle."

Princeton Five
Threatens to Overhaul Penn

Pennsylvania moved near to the Intercollegiate Basketball League title by defeating Columbia last week, but the steady playing of the Princeton five and the return of Cornell to the court, each of which scored victories in the last six days, may postpone serious obstacles in the path of the Quakers in the final games of the series.

Princeton beat Columbia early in the week and nosed out a victory over Dartmouth on Saturday, thereby jumping into second place. Cornell came back to the floor for its first game since Jan. 15 and repeated its early season triumph over Yale.

Yale, by reason of its defeat at the hands of Cornell, dropped back to third place and, with a record of four games won and three lost, already seems well out of the running. Columbia lost its sixth game of the year when the Quakers defeated the Blue and White, while Dartmouth, with five games lost out of seven played, is only a step ahead of Columbia and only a single place away from the cellar.

The Princeton and Pennsylvania clash on Wednesday night, and this game should go far in determining the ultimate standing of the Quakers.

Boston Teams
Out of Running
For Hockey Title

Club	W.	L.	P.
St. Nicholas H. C.	5	0	1067
Boston A. A.	3	2	607
Harvard Club	3	1	500
Central C.	2	3	333
Hockey Club	0	5	000

The defeat of Boston, which was pressing the St. Nicks hard for first place in the Amateur Hockey League race, by the Crescent A. C. Saturday night, practically put that team out of the running for the title. Earlier in the week Winsor's pupils defeated the Harvard Club, the other Boston organization in the league, and bearing an unexpected slump by the St. Nicks neither of the Hub teams has a chance to annex the honors.

Harvard's victory over the St. Nicks on Saturday night in a hard fought game is taken in some quarters to mean that the Santa Claus team is not at its best. If this is true the champions will have a hard fight on their hands to beat the Crescent in the St. Nicholas rink on Friday night. When these two teams met in the first round of the series Hockey Baker and his team mates had to play an extra period to score over the New Mooners.

The Crescents showed in their game with the Boston A. A. that they are going great guns, and hockey followers look to see them put up a fine fight against the title holders.

The other game of the week in the local rink will be played on Wednesday night, when the Union and Knickerbocker Clubs will meet at the benefit carnival for the Belgian Relief Fund. Skating features also will be on the programme.

The Hockey Club will go to Boston to-morrow night to play the Harvard Club team.

WILLARD'S HEALTH O. K.;
FIGHT IS NOT IN DANGER

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Denial that Jess Willard was so ill as to make his appearance in the ring with Frank Moran in New York March 25 doubtful, was made to-day by Tom Jones, manager of the heavyweight champion.

"All this talk about Jess being too ill to train for the fight is wrong," said Jones.

Willard was reported to be suffering from the gripple.

Tex Rickard, who is promoting the Willard-Moran bout, denied to-day the reports of a probable postponement of the contest on account of the condition of the heavyweight champion. Rickard said that he had been in communication over the telephone with Willard's manager, Tom Jones, at Chicago this morning.

"Jones assured me," said Rickard, "that Willard had not suffered a relapse, but on the contrary he was much better and had been able to be out of doors yesterday. Jones expects to have Willard here by the end of the week and I am positive that there will be no hitch in the arrangements now made to have the men meet for ten rounds in Madison Square Garden, March 25."

Park Rows Make Big Gain
On White Elephant Team

Runners-Up in The Evening World Amateur Tourney Whitewash Leaders.

SCHEDULE TO-NIGHT. Bergman Bros. at Hunts Point. Bronx Central at Bronx Palace. Metropolitan at Crotona.

THE Park Row champions, runners-up for first honors in The Evening World three-man amateur tournament, ran up considerable Saturday night by whitewashing the leaders, Thum's White Elephant trio, at Schirmer's downtown academy.

For the first few frames of the opening session it looked as if the Elephants would be quite a huge proposition for the champions to handle, but for the first few frames only, as the Park Rows let out as usual on their home alleys and ran away from the visitors, winning out in this game by 93 pins.

The second and third sessions were repetitions of the first affair, with the downtown sharpshooters always in front with wood to spare. There is no gainsaying the fact that the Park Rows are invincible on their home alleys, and they now have the distinction of being the only team to blank the leaders. The scores:

Club	W.	L.	P.
White Elephant	1	2	100
Park Row	2	0	100
Thum's	1	1	100
Scott	1	1	100

High Score—Miller, 243.

Freddy Sepp, one of the Park Row champions, is matched to meet Leo Marzotto at the Bergman Bros' academy to-night, best six out of eleven games to count.

BOXING COMMISSION'S NEW SCALE OF WEIGHTS.

Paperweight	108 pounds
Bantamweight	115 pounds
Featherweight	125 pounds
Lightweight	135 pounds
Welterweight	144 pounds
Middleweight	155 pounds
Commission	175 pounds
Heavyweight	All over.

fundamental changes were made, the chief ones being a new system of ticket control, so as to safeguard the State in its 7 1/2 percentage; a revision of the scale of boxing weights; and a provision that all contracts between boxers and boxing clubs be executed in triplicate and a copy deposited with the commission.

In the new scale of weights, changes are apparent in the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight classes. The feathers are changed from 122 pounds to 125, the lightweights from 135 to 135 pounds and the welterweights from 142 pounds to 144 pounds. The paperweight limit is set at 108 pounds. All the other weight limits remain the same as before.

The rules prohibiting mixed bouts and decisions by the referee remain as formerly, but they were the subject of much discussion by the members of the commission. Fred Wenck, the Chairman, strove diligently to convince his fellow Commissioners, John Franey and Frank Dwyer, that so-called "mixed" bouts, or contests between white and negro pugilists, and official decisions by licensed referees should be allowed, but Franey and Dwyer couldn't see it that way at all.

A match was arranged last night between Jimmie Murphy for six rounds at the Olympia A. A. of Philadelphia. Jimmy Dundee faces Joe Mandot for twenty rounds at New Orleans, and Leach Cross goes against Milburn "Young" Saylor for ten rounds at Cincinnati. Another important contest also booked for to-night is that between Tom "Kid" Lewis and Jimmy Duffy of Louisville, welterweights, at the Queensberry A. C. of Buffalo, N. Y.

Jack Curley, manager of Freeman Jim Fynn, the game Pacific heavyweight, announced to-day that the proposed ten-round go between Jack Dulin and Fynn has been arranged and that the men will come together at the next show of the Manhattan A. C. of Harlem on March 7. Curley is slated for Fynn and that Harry Pollock, manager of the club, already had Dulin's acceptance.

Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, who has come out of his class and fought many lightweights in the last eleven months, has just been secured for another one of these contests. His manager, Jimmy Dunn, has accepted terms from Dominick Tortorella, the New Orleans fight promoter, for Kilbane to fight the winner of the Dundee-Mandot twenty rounds on March 22.

The following contests all ten-round bouts have been arranged for the Harlem Sporting Club for Friday night: Tex Kelly vs. Frankie Notter, Ray Parker vs. Harry Gattie, Young Fulton vs. Young Jimmie Britt, and Kid Carter vs. Frankie Lapp.
